

Managed Website Services

Spiderace's website design & development division is a collaboration of distinguishable talent. We provide custom website services which include website design and development, web consulting, graphic designs, and website maintenance services to your company. Our team being a combination of diversified talent in different technologies outperform in any development activity be it a task from startup or a project that is handed over to us in the middle, we ensure to complete it in flying colours to your satisfaction. You can understand this when you have a glance on our portfolio and when you browse through the different sections of our website.

At Spiderace we try to ensure the following aspects are taken better care of when working on any website development project:

Nice Outlook

As everyone believe, "First Impression is the Best Impression" we analyse your site requirements, industry you like to serve and take into account, your tastes, and any other inputs and finally plan the website design layout and colour combination and utilise latest design technologies to make an effective representation of your concept of Business to your audience through your website. This is the key point in helping the prospect analyse and estimate the quality of service they were going to get in first few seconds after they land on your website and with the combination of a functional site features, unique content and intuitive navigation they always tend to return again and again.

Unique Content, Useful Site Features & Intuitive Navigation Planning

The core factor that makes the user return to any website is the Unique Content, useful site features and intuitive navigation planning that turns your website into an ultimate resource in your industry. Our team is well equipped and content enough in implementing diversified featureset and they will develop the necessary features in the website to compliment your skillsets on the field. This is the keypoint that helps the prospect analyse and estimate the quality of service they will be getting in first few seconds after they land on your website and with the combination of unique and well optimised design layout to the above features, your website will rock and make the user feel to return again and again.

We meet all Quality Standards:

-

We develop both Fit to screen as well as 1024*768 screen resolution based design layouts for your website.

-

We take enough care to ensure the sites we develop are easy & intuitive interms of navigation.

-

We always ensure that your websites are Cross browser Comaptible and appear well in all browsers like IE, Mozilla Suite, Mozilla Firefox, Opera, Netscape, Konqueror etc.....

-
We develop websites which are compliant to all XHTML, HTML and CSS Standards.

Once you make your decision to outsource your website development to us, we take your inputs and then handle rest of the implementation and call your attention in different stages as and when required and we will complete the website project in the specified time with a nice outlook and to your satisfaction.